

STRENGTHS

-  Early Risk Recognition
A quiet attendance concern became an early support conversation, giving a student room to recover before grades slipped further.
-  Individualized Coaching
Learning plans matched course demands and student habits, helping underprepared athletes find routines they could sustain.
-  Eligibility Judgment
Careful rule reviews kept registration decisions grounded in NCAA, SEC, and institutional expectations.
-  Cross Campus Communication
Clear updates helped coaches, faculty, tutors, families, and students act from one shared picture.
-  Case Continuity
Well kept advising notes made handoffs smoother, especially when a student needed several forms of support.

SUMMARY

Academic counseling professional with four years of experience supporting college students and student athletes through academic planning, degree progression, major selection, career exploration, learning strategy development, and personal growth. Provides steady guidance through weekly meetings, attendance and grade reviews, tutoring coordination, academic appointments, and progress reporting. Applies NCAA, SEC, institutional, academic honesty, and progress toward degree requirements when reviewing course choices and eligibility concerns. Builds practical support plans for underprepared and at risk students, then follows progress closely with students, coaches, instructors, tutors, administrators, parents, and guardians. Experienced in recruiting events, case documentation, faculty communication, and cross campus coordination. Brings thoughtful judgment and dependable follow through to advising environments where student success and eligibility must move together.
