STRENGTHS

- 👥 Collaborative governance
Faculty committees became practical decision spaces through clear evidence, open discussion, and follow through on shared priorities.
- 🎓 Student pathway design
Advising, orientation, and transfer work connected students with timely choices; colleagues often sought guidance on difficult cases.
- 📋 Curriculum assessment
Learning evidence shaped general education revisions and accreditation materials, giving faculty a clearer basis for action.
- ♥ Inclusive academic leadership
Policy conversations made room for varied student experiences, helping teams address access, equity, and belonging with care.
- 👩 Faculty development
Workshops and mentoring supported stronger teaching practice; instructors valued practical conversation more than abstract mandates.

SUMMARY

Academic dean and tenured professor with 15 years of progressive higher education experience across liberal arts instruction, general education, honors, curriculum assessment, student success, faculty governance, and academic administration. Leads institution wide planning from first year seminar and writing across the curriculum through undergraduate research, experiential learning, senior capstone, and completion. Supervises program directors and staff, guides faculty searches and personnel review, manages budgets and grants, and supports accreditation with clear evidence. Uses persistence, progression, graduation, and enrollment data to shape policy, advising, resource decisions, and inclusive excellence initiatives. Collaborative work with faculty, registrars, enrollment leaders, student success units, articulation partners, and community organizations supports ethical academic decisions and stronger student pathways. Ready to bring thoughtful governance, practical stewardship, and humane leadership to undergraduate education.
