EXPERIENCE

Director, Global Product Marketing

Silicon Harbor Systems 📅 February 2023 - Present 📍 San Jose, California

Leads global product marketing for process and packaging solutions serving Memory, Foundry, Logic, and Advanced Packaging customers. Owns product definition, market analysis, commercialization planning, and cross functional alignment across Product Management, Engineering, Sales, and Marketing.

- Led MRS development for packaging applications, aligning engineering priorities with customer requirements and launch decisions.
- Built TAM, SAM, and SOM models from forecasts and research, guiding portfolio investment discussions.
- Shaped pricing strategy through switching economics and competitor analysis, protecting profitability during market entry.
- Created customer presentations and sales enablement materials, helping account teams explain technical value clearly.
- Tracked adoption, conversion, revenue, market share, and growth indicators, informing scale up decisions.
- Mapped personas and customer journeys, giving product teams sharper insight into evaluation barriers and buying triggers.

Senior Product Marketing Manager

Quantum Ridge Equipment 📅 June 2020 - January 2023 📍 Austin, Texas

Managed product marketing for semiconductor manufacturing equipment serving Logic and Foundry customers. Connected fab investment signals, customer feedback, competitive evidence, and technical capabilities with business cases, launch plans, and commercial priorities.

- Created market models using fab investment trends and wafer starts, clarifying opportunity size for leadership.
- Developed ROI analyses comparing process capability with incumbent approaches, strengthening customer business cases.
- Translated customer feedback into MRS requirements, helping engineering prioritize application needs for target accounts.
- Produced competitive briefs and pricing recommendations, giving sales teams practical guidance for account strategy.
- Built launch scorecards covering evaluations, adoption, conversion, revenue pipeline, and market share across priority segments.
- Coordinated launch collateral with product managers and sales, improving message consistency across customer engagements.

Product Marketing Manager

ArcLine Semiconductor Technologies 📅 June 2017 - May 2020 📍 Phoenix, Arizona

STRENGTHS

- ♥ Market sizing
Built TAM, SAM, and SOM models from customer forecasts and research. Leaders used them for sharper investment choices.
- 👥 Customer insight
Turned feedback from evaluations into MRS requirements and messaging. A recurring question often revealed the best product clue.
- 📊 Commercial strategy
Balanced pricing, switching economics, and profitability during launches. Sales teams gained clearer guidance for difficult account decisions.
- 🏢 Cross functional leadership
Aligned Product Management, Engineering, Sales, and Marketing around launch choices. Teams moved faster after priorities became visible.
- 💬 Executive communication
Translated technical evidence into concise presentations and business cases. Complex discussions became easier for senior stakeholders to act on.

MY CAREER

● Director, Global Product Marketing at Silicon Harbor Systems (3.7 Years)

● Senior Product Marketing Manager at Quantum Ridge Equipment (2.6 Years)

● Product Marketing Manager at ArcLine Semiconductor Technologies (2.9 Years)

● Market Analyst, Semiconductor Products at Mesa Microelectronics (1.9 Years)

Supported product marketing for deposition and process control offerings serving Memory and Logic accounts. Combined segment research, customer evidence, competitive analysis, and launch coordination to strengthen positioning and sales readiness.

- Maintained segment forecasts using industry reports and customer signals, supporting TAM and SAM planning.
- Built value propositions linking process performance and cost of ownership with customer evaluation criteria.
- Compared competitor pricing and capabilities, informing commercial account plans and positioning decisions.
- Mapped customer stakeholders and evaluation journeys, identifying proof points for sales enablement materials.
- Coordinated launch readiness with Sales, Engineering, and Product Management, incorporating customer feedback into messaging.
- Prepared customer presentations that translated process advantages into clear commercial reasons for evaluation.

Market Analyst, Semiconductor Products

Mesa Microelectronics 📅 June 2015 - May 2017 📍 Chandler, Arizona

Analyzed semiconductor trends, capital spending, competitor activity, customer requirements, and third party research for product planning. Converted market evidence into opportunity models, business case inputs, positioning content, and account insights for product and sales leaders.

- Analyzed capital spending and competitor announcements, giving product leaders timely market context for planning.
- Built opportunity models for Memory, Foundry, and Logic using addressable market scenarios.
- Gathered pricing references and adoption assumptions, strengthening ROI inputs for emerging product business cases.
- Prepared competitive summaries and customer research, helping sales leaders focus account conversations.
- Created market collateral and presentation content, turning research findings into clear segment narratives.
- Maintained design in, evaluation, revenue, and competitive metrics, supporting regular commercial reviews.

PROJECTS

Advanced Packaging Market Entry 📅 2024

A promising packaging opportunity needed more than a strong technical story. Built market sizing, customer segmentation, positioning, pricing logic, and launch content that connected application needs with commercialization priorities.

Logic Equipment Commercialization Plan 📅 2022

Customer feedback pointed toward a sharper value case. Combined ROI analysis, competitor research, personas, and adoption measures into a practical go to market plan for Logic accounts.

Memory Opportunity Intelligence Model 📅 2018

Small changes in customer investment signals revealed a larger market pattern. Consolidated third party research, account activity, pricing references, and scenario assumptions into an opportunity model for Memory products.

LEADERSHIP & AWARDS

- Recognized by executive leadership for connecting customer insight, product definition, and commercialization planning across semiconductor markets.
- Received a marketing leadership award for customer presentations and sales enablement content that clarified complex technical value.
- Selected to lead cross functional launch reviews, a role that turned scattered feedback into focused decisions.
