Dear Hiring Manager,

I am thrilled to apply for the NICU Occupational Therapist role at Lee Health, where your commitment to pediatric care resonates with my passion and expertise, combining my clinical skills and heartfelt dedication to help the most vulnerable populations, particularly the tiniest patients who require specialized, compassionate therapy.

In my experience, I've always prioritized collaboration with interdisciplinary teams, helping to craft individualized treatment plans for infants and children facing developmental challenges, believing strongly that a united approach amplifies outcomes and nurtures a supportive caregiving culture.

My journey began in pediatric environments, where I promptly recognized that each child is unique, and I crafted tailored therapies to meet specific needs, showcasing my commitment to personalized care and ensuring optimal developmental progress.

During my tenure at Springfield Children's Hospital, I sustained performance improvements and developed fresh initiatives, wielding a significant impact on patient wellness; this included both academic workshops and in-clinic sessions that educated families about developmental strategies.

I always maintain clarity in communication and approachability with my colleagues and families, realizing how crucial these aspects are in fostering trust and building rapport to create an environment conducive to healing and growth.

Thank you for considering my application.

Sincerely,

Brianna Lozano
